Nirad C. Chaudhuri's autobiography, published in 1951, bears the evocative subtitle The Autobiography of an Unknown Indian. At its core, this work challenges the very notion of identity—questioning how personal and national histories intertwine. The phrase “unknown Indian” suggests a critique of India’s self-perception, especially during the early years of independence when the nation was grappling with its colonial legacy and post-independence identity. The autobiography stands apart for its candid, often provocative tone. # Historical and Cultural Context

Post-Colonial India and the Search for Identity

Published just four years after India gained independence in 1947, the autobiography is embedded within a period of significant upheaval.
